

The Capo Nord Hotel on Albarella Island chooses Billiani seats

From the blue sea to blue furniture

The new Capo Nord Hotel recently opened on Albarella, a private island owned by the Marcegaglia group and located in the Venetian Lagoon in the Po Delta Park (RO), rich in lush green maquis scrubland. In collaboration with THDP Turin, Billiani has enriched several common areas, including the restaurant and bar, by supplying a significant number of Croissant chairs - designed by Emilio Nanni - the many versions of which help to create spaces that are consistent but never dull.

Characterized by remarkable formal solidity, the Croissant chairs stand out for their natural or bleached beech wood frames, coupled with a fabric seat and backrest available in a wide range of colours and finishes. The chair, armchair and lounge chair versions have been used for the hotel restaurant, while the stool with backrest complements the counter in the bar area. The three colours – green, teal blue and beige – chosen for the spaces, ensure consistency between all areas while harmoniously alternating or blending together in each individual environment.

THE WHOLE WORLD OF INTERIOR DESIGN IN COLOGNE

13-19 JANUARY 2014

Close to the fine-sand beach, the hotel features rooms, one-bedroom apartments with fully equipped kitchenettes (some on two floors), and suites with sea views. Each living unit is controlled internally by a home automation system and independent air conditioning. Many of the hotel's apartments and rooms have been furnished with Nordica 601 seats – a contemporary interpretation of the classic tub chair, whose perfect semi-circular shape is traced out by an unbroken form incorporating the back and armrest. The chair emphasizes the frankness of its designer, Marco Ferreri, who has long been interested in creating meticulous and simple design pieces made to last.

BILLIANI – www.billiani.it

Founded in 1911, Billiani is a long-standing and family-held Italian company whose success is based on simple but fundamental values and principles. Its craft know-how, love of detail, and quest for top-quality materials, processes, finishes and designs are handed down from generation to generation and shared with every staff member in the company. Over the years, Billiani has specialized in the manufacture of wooden chairs, stools and armchairs for the contract sector, enriching and continuously developing its product range to meet the ever-changing needs of clients and different applications.

The work of Billiani's internal creative team is combined with projects by renowned designers, including Marco Ferreri, Aldo Cibic, Fabio Bortolani and Emilio Nanni, master craftsmen such as Werther Toffoloni and young international designers like Paul Loebach and Daniel Fintzi. The result is a series of products that combine high-class contemporary design and top-notch ergonomics. Excellent witnesses to the internationally renowned quality of products "Made in Italy", Billiani's items are distributed worldwide and are put to use in premium restaurants, hotels, offices and other public spaces throughout the world. Billiani's seats are also part of international design exhibitions and collections - from the MoMA in New York or the Triennale in Milan, to Villa Erba on Lake Como and various private collections. They have been shortlisted for the ADI Design Index and the Red Dot Award, and have received a CATAS award for technological innovation.
